

What is a vanpool?

A vanpool is a better way to travel to and from work. A vanpool is a group of 7 to 15 people who commute to and from work on a regular basis in a roomy comfortable van. One person volunteers to be the driver/coordinator of the vanpool and normally rides free. The riders share the cost of operating the vanpool. The vanpool group determines their daily schedule and route. Riders meet at a designated pick-up locations, such as a Park 'n Ride lot or a shopping center. There may be more than one meeting place if the group agrees.

Who vanpools?

- Thousands of smart commuters ride in VPSI vanpools everyday.
- People who have at least a 30 minute drive or travel more than 15 miles one-way to work. People who maintain a relatively consistent work schedule.
- People who live and work near, or along the route of, 7 to 15 other people who are willing to share the ride in a van.

Why vanpool?

Save money - Vanpoolers save an average of $800 a year or more compared to the cost of driving alone. Plus, you spend less for gas, parking, repair and maintenance on your own vehicle.

Save time - A vanpool can use the (HOV) High Occupancy Vehicle Lanes. This can significantly reduce the time spent commuting to and from work each day.

Save your sanity - You don't have to fight traffic congestion. In a vanpool you can sleep, read and relax on your commute to and from work.

Save our air - One vanpool removes as many as 14 vehicle's and their emissions from the road each day. That's good for you and for the environment.
